Notice of Privacy Practices

THIS NOTICE DESCRIBES HOW MEDICAL INFORMATION ABOUT YOU MAY BE USED AND DISCLOSED AND HOW YOU CAN GET ACCESS TO THIS INFORMATION. PLEASE REVIEW IT CAREFULLY.

Effective date: April 1, 2025. Last revised: March 2, 2026.

1. Our Commitment to Your Privacy

Quillmere Physical Therapy & Sports Rehab, PLLC ("Quillmere," "we," "us") is required by law to maintain the privacy of your protected health information ("PHI"), to give you this Notice describing our legal duties and privacy practices with respect to your PHI, and to follow the terms of the Notice that is currently in effect. PHI is information that identifies you and relates to your past, present or future physical or mental health or condition, the provision of health care to you, or payment for that care.

This Notice applies to all records of your care generated or maintained by Quillmere, whether made by our physical therapists, physical therapist assistants, front office staff, or business associates acting on our behalf. It applies to records in paper form, in our electronic health record, in our patient portal, and in recordings or messages made through our telehealth platform.

2. How We May Use and Disclose Your Health Information

The following categories describe the ways that we use and disclose PHI. Not every use or disclosure in a category is listed, but every way we are permitted to use and disclose information falls within one of these categories.

Treatment. We may use your PHI to provide, coordinate, or manage your physical therapy care. For example, your physical therapist may share your evaluation findings with the physical therapist assistant who treats you at follow-up visits, or send your plan of care to your physician for signature when your insurance requires it.

Payment. We may use and disclose your PHI so that we can bill and receive payment for the services we provide. For example, we may send your insurer information about your diagnosis and the procedures performed so that the insurer will pay us, or contact your plan to confirm your benefits before your first visit.

Health care operations. We may use and disclose your PHI for our business operations, such as quality review, staff training, licensing, accreditation, and auditing. For example, we may review de-identified outcome scores to evaluate how well our treatment programs work.

Appointment reminders and service information. We may contact you by phone, text message, email, or patient portal message to remind you of appointments, to ask you to complete intake forms, or to tell you about treatment options or health-related services that may interest you. You may ask us to contact you only by a particular method.

Individuals involved in your care. Unless you object, we may share relevant PHI with a family member, friend, or other person you identify who is involved in your care or in paying for your care. For patients under 18, we generally share information with a parent or legal guardian.

3. Other Uses and Disclosures Permitted Without Your Authorization

We may use or disclose your PHI without your written authorization in the following circumstances, subject to the requirements and limits of applicable law: when required by federal, state, or local law; for public health activities, such as reporting injuries or preventing disease; to report suspected abuse, neglect, or domestic violence to an authorized government agency; for health oversight activities such as audits and inspections; in response to a court order, subpoena, or other lawful process; for limited law enforcement purposes; to avoid a serious threat to the health or safety of you or others; for specialized government functions, including military and veterans' activities; and for workers' compensation or similar programs that provide benefits for work-related injuries.

If you are receiving care under a workers' compensation claim, we will share information about the injury and your treatment with your employer's workers' compensation carrier and adjuster as permitted by Virginia law. If you are receiving care under an auto insurance claim, we will share information with the auto insurer as needed to obtain payment.

4. Uses and Disclosures Requiring Your Written Authorization

Other uses and disclosures of your PHI not covered by this Notice will be made only with your written authorization. Examples include most uses for marketing purposes and any sale of PHI. Quillmere does not sell patient information. If you sign an authorization, you may revoke it at any time in writing, except to the extent that we have already relied on it.

Quillmere does not use patient testimonials, photographs, or videos — including running gait analysis video — in advertising or on social media without a separate signed authorization.

5. Your Rights Regarding Your Health Information

Right to inspect and copy. You have the right to inspect and obtain a copy of your PHI in our designated record set, including in electronic form. Submit your request through the patient portal or in writing to our Privacy Officer. We will respond within 30 days. Your first electronic copy in any 12-month period is provided free of charge; we may charge a reasonable, cost-based fee for paper copies or additional requests.

Right to amend. If you believe information in your record is incorrect or incomplete, you may ask us to amend it. Your request must be in writing and state the reason. We may deny your request in certain cases, and if we do, we will explain why in writing and tell you how to file a statement of disagreement.

Right to an accounting of disclosures. You may request a list of certain disclosures we have made of your PHI in the six years before your request, other than disclosures for treatment, payment, health care operations, and certain other purposes.

Right to request restrictions. You may ask us to limit how we use or disclose your PHI. We are not required to agree, except that we must agree to a request not to disclose PHI to your health plan for a service you have paid for in full out of pocket.

Right to confidential communications. You may ask us to contact you in a certain way or at a certain location — for example, only by mail to a post office box. We will accommodate reasonable requests.

Right to be notified of a breach. You have the right to be notified if there is a breach of your unsecured PHI.

Right to a paper copy of this Notice. You may ask for a paper copy of this Notice at any time, even if you have agreed to receive it electronically.

6. Website, Patient Portal and Chat Assistant

Our website includes a chat assistant that answers general questions about our services, hours, insurance and policies, and can help you request an appointment. The chat assistant does not have access to your medical record. Information you type into the chat assistant, such as your name, phone number and reason for visit, is used to respond to you and to schedule your appointment, and is stored by our scheduling system. Please do not enter detailed medical information into the chat assistant. For questions about your own care, use the secure patient portal or call us.

The patient portal is operated by a business associate under a written agreement that requires it to protect your information.

7. Changes to This Notice

We reserve the right to change this Notice and to make the revised Notice effective for PHI we already have as well as any information we receive in the future. The current Notice is posted in our waiting room and on our website, and the effective date is shown on the first page.

8. Complaints

If you believe your privacy rights have been violated, you may file a complaint with our Privacy Officer or with the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Office for Civil Rights. You will not be penalized or retaliated against for filing a complaint.
